He picked up the cat and smoothed her crumpled fur with his big hand. "That was high on to forty year ago," he said, "and I've been wandering about the bush ever since, except a few years I was down in the Southern States, ranchin'. It I picked up a lot down there, but nothing worth keepin', I guess. What I was goin' to say was, I never see a mother and her boy together without a big smilin' I can't name standin' right out before me, and that's somethin' I was I've missed by not havin' a mother."

Witlow Ross laid her pipe on the table. "Tommy," she commanded, "you go right down to the spring and bring up that bucket of milk, and don't you spill it, or I'll pull every one of them red hairs out of your head. I don't suppose you've lost your appetite none lately, Billy?"

"Periodically only, marm. I ain't got over my likin' for brick-cooked bread and milk, particularly the bread of a lady I know to be the best cook on Totherside."

"Mrs. Ross showed two rows of white teeth in a pleased smile. Then her face grew stern again. "Totherside," she flashed, "why, I don't take that as much of a compliment, Bill Paisley. Ain't I the only woman on Totherside?"

"Beggins' your pardon, I mean on the whole countryside—Bridenton included," retrieved Bill gallantly. "What be you all goin' up do about Halibut?" asked the woman, sitting down at the spinning-wheel.

Bill shook his long hair and chuckled. "I got scolded once for sayin' what I thought about sellin' our timber, so don't ask me."

The widow's heavy brows met in a frown. "Here you are forty years old, and that's old enough for you to have some sense if you're goin' to have any. And I must say I don't think you nor Big McTavish nor any of your Bushwhackers have an ounce of sense among you. Here you are fightin' for a fortune, or at least keepin' in money, which you might have out of your pockets. Bosh! I believe that Boy McTavish has got you all under a spell."

"Boy is sure the strongest and blindest, fighter amongst us," agreed Bill, "but we're all of one opinion. We like the widow, and I guess we have reason to. It has give us all a mighty good livin', and somehow wood-life has some about it, that cleared land ain't got smells and sounds and silence and I'll be bound."

"Be careful now, your right severe again," admonished the woman. "There you, Tom, set the pall down on the table; then go to the outhouse and bring in the bread, the brick-baked loaf."

"Mrs. Ross," said Paisley, "you're not only a good-lookin' woman, but you're a good-hearted woman. Once I hoped I might be your son-in-law and have all the brick-baked bread I wanted, and the cornmeal which only you can bake. But Mary Ann she seems to think different, and I'm thinkin', after all, she's right. You see, marm, she is only somethin' about twenty-two years old and me nearly twice that."

The widow put her finger on her lip and glanced fearfully toward the door. Then she looked with commiseration at Paisley, and approaching him in a crouching attitude, whispered:

"Mary Ann is goin' to marry the teacher."

Bill's stool, poised on two legs, came to the floor with a thump. "Marry the teacher?" he repeated. "Marry the teacher? Well now, I'll be turkey-trapped. I didn't think he was brave enough to ask her."

"I ain't sayin' that he has asked her, am I?" cried the widow. "But I've got two eyes to see with, haven't I, Bill Paisley?"

"Aye, marm, to do whatever you like with," answered Bill pleasantly, his own eyes on the loaf of bread which Tom had just brought in. Then noting the widow's ruffled dignity, he smoothed it with the back of his hand, who baked that bread by the appetizing smell of it. Says I to Big McTavish just yesterday, "There are some good break-makers in this here place, but none of 'em quite like widder Ross."

"Time Big McTavish had his last loggin'-bee he sent for me to come and help with the cookin'." said the widow, as she poured the foaming milk from the pail into the big earthen bowls. "I made a custard in the dishpan. There was forty-two eggs in it, and it was good, if I do say it myself. Not one man in the lot of 'em that set down to the table but asked for a second helpin'." Big Mac

he told 'em all who made it, and since I've liked 'em better than any other 'em makin' another just like it, for Mrs. Dechute, and if you're at Dechute's loggin'-bee next Thursday you'll be able to sample it. Big McTavish says that Ander's loggin' 'll be a good 'un, all right, if I make a custard for it."

"He's one man in five hundred, marm, is Big Mac," answered Bill. "Why, Mrs. Ross, there's not an injun in the bush, nor on the Point, either, who wouldn't tight tooth-and-nail for him. He's been mighty good to the injuns, has Mac. Any time they want anythin' he has, they go to him and get it. And Gloss, who he can simply let them injuns shoot a little finger. They all think the world of her."

"I'd like to know who 'don't' think 'em world of Gloss, she's a clear girl—bless 'er sweet face. I'd with a spoonful of milk-scraked bread with it, or the way to its destination, suspended operations for a moment."

"Widder Ross," he said, "God never made a better girl, nor a better lookin' one, unless it was your Mary Ann."

His repeat finisher, he reached for his rifle.

"You're goin'," he said in answer to the widow's invitation to "set longer." "I'll call in on you again soon, widder. Goodnight."

"Goodnight," responded the woman. She was fighting her clay pipe and did so much as turn as Bill walked out.

Paisley skirted the scrubby walk and passed along the edge of the burnt grove toward the path across the fallow. A whip-poor-will was voicing its joy from the limb of a milky-barked tree.

Bill laid his head and breathed in the clear wood-scented air. From the valley came the monotonous buzz of a saw. Suddenly Paisley dived into the hazel thickets. He had heard footsteps approaching and rightly divined that it was the teacher and Mary Ann.

Not until the young people had passed through the grove and emerged into the interval beyond did Paisley step out from his hiding-place. Then he looked toward the sinking moon and sighed.

"She's not for the likes of you, Bill," he murmured as he turned to the path again.

Tommy stood before him. "Bill," he said, "I want to tell you somethin'. I've got to tell you, Bill, or I'll bust."

"Why, Tommy," said Bill, "thought you'd come to bed."

"No, I slipped out and followed you. But I saw them comin' too, and I ducked away. Say, Bill, you don't think much of Mr. Simpson, do you?"

Paisley laughed quietly. "Well, Tommy, and what if I don't?"

"Well, I overheard him and that Watson man plannin' some things to get the other day. I thought I wouldn't tell anybody, but I can't keep it any longer."

He stood on tiptoe and whispered something in the man's ear. Paisley gripped the lad's arm.

"You're dravin'," he cried. "No, Bill, I heard 'em make it up between 'em," gasped Tom. "An' what I want to know is, what's goin' to be done about it?"

"I don't know," answered Paisley, "but I don't want to—I have to study this thing out."

His square jaw was set and he toyed with the lock of his rifle. "You haven't told anyone else, Tommy?" he asked.

"Nary a soul."

"Then don't. I'll see you in a night or two. Keep your eyes on the teacher. Remember, if Big McTavish or Roy hear what you've told me they'll kill him sure. You know what that will mean."

"I won't tell anybody, cross my heart," promised the lad, and then darted away.

CHAPTER XV.

WAR TALK.

Paisley paddled slowly across the creek drew his skiff into the willow bushes, and picking up his rifle, walked along the edge of the creek until he reached the bay. It slept gray and cold beneath the moon, and all about its fringing waters a rugged tree-frame stood spiral-like and shadowy—a disheveled cloud in an open blot of sky. Paisley gazed across the bay, his face fixed and his whole attitude one of protest.

Saskatchewan Butter Brings Highest Price

Topped Market When Put On Auction in Montreal.

Evidence of the place which Saskatchewan butter now holds in the best markets of Eastern Canada is found in the following item appearing in the October 8th issue of "The Trade Bulletin" of Montreal.

"A feature in last Friday's auction sale, held at the United Dairyman's Co-operative Limited, was the sale for the first time of a lot of 450 packages of finest Saskatchewan July-August creamery butter, which sold at 1-1/2 per pound over Quebec finest creamery butter marketed here on the same day."

Previous to the sale above reported Saskatchewan butter had never appeared on the Montreal auction boards and though sales were often made at top prices, Quebec butter was the generally accepted standard. That the first ear of Saskatchewan goods offered at auction should have topped the market is a most emphatic expression of the esteem in which our butter is held by the best trade in the east.

Protection of Bird Life

Want Co-operation of Sportsmen With Authorities to Protect Wild Game.

The treaty between Canada and the United States to protect migratory birds from ruthless slaughter by some gunmen should commend itself to most sportsmen, as well as to the general public. One of the commissioners from the United States, at the convention of the international association in Ottawa, seemed to be discouraged. He declared that alleged sportsmen of the two countries were not playing the game, and urged that the law should be enforced with more rigor.

The chief game commissioner of the United States took a more hopeful view of the situation. He expressed confidence in the sportsmen. There had been a great deal better law observance than law enforcement, he declared. A small percentage of offenders should not be allowed to bring discredit upon the great majority who really tried to maintain the best traditions of sport.

The American commissioners paid special tribute to the excellence of the work done in Canada by the Dominion Parks Branch. Canada is happily able to maintain some varieties of birds that have become practically extinct in the United States. Bird sanctuaries, as well as the strict observance of close season against hunting, are undoubtedly of untold benefit. The co-operation of all true sportsmen with the authorities, in the conservation of game, bird and game life in Canada and the United States, is not being asked in vain.—From the Ottawa Citizen.

Marketing Light Hogs

Farmers Advised to Pay Stricter Attention to Weights.

Despite a plentiful supply of coarse grains this season, with the usual percentage marketable only in the form of meat, as against a very serious scarcity of grain of any kind during September of 1920 by 5 per cent. of the total marketings when compared with the same period of 1919. The situation is all the more serious in the light of the present marked shortage of supplies and the evident reduction in the holdings of brood sows.

Statistics go to prove that the percentage of light hogs in the total marketings increases from September to December. In some years the numbers of lights marketed during November have been double those marketed during September. The inference is that unless the present liquidation is arrested the marketings during the month of November next will show 22 per cent. light hogs.

Another four to six weeks' feeding would put most of the light hogs in the select hogs class at $1.00 to $2.00 per cwt. above the price they would fetch as lights and the extra weight would net good value for the grain consumed. The average weight for select hogs in 1919 was 190 lbs. and with abundance of grain at cheaper prices this average could well be raised to 200 lbs. for this fall and winter. The situation would be greatly improved if farmers paid stricter attention to the weights of hogs offered for sale and endeavored as far as possible to market in straight carload lots.—Live Stock Commissioner.

Men, Men! Try It To-night! Feel Fine Tomorrow

Simple Way to Get "Big" To Be Put Right On Your Feet.

When a man has lost ambition to "dig in" and stay at things—when he complains of headache, fullness in the right side, pains in the shoulder blade—it's purely a case of "Liver."

These symptoms invariably indicate a clogged, inactive liver. The body can't get rid of its wastes, and the whole system is half paralyzed.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills stimulate the liver into activity in one night. Being a mild vegetable laxative they produce results in a few hours. The blood is purified, the complexion cleared, spirits rise, complexion cleared, ambition returns. Nothing in the world is efficient for that tired, listless feeling as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Very mild, don't interfere with work, invariably do lots of good. Try a 25c box, all dealers.

To Save Potato Situation

Principal of Manitoba College Says Co-operation is Necessary.

Co-operative effort is the only hope for the present unsatisfactory potato marketing situation in Saskatchewan, according to Principal John Bracken of the Manitoba College of Agriculture, formerly professor of field husbandry in the University of Saskatchewan.

"The fact that every spring consumers pay very high prices for potatoes is in itself convincing evidence that storage facilities either on the farm, at the railway siding or in the town and city, should be provided, and that closer relations be established between the grower and the produce merchant."

"At present it is easier for the latter to buy a carload of potatoes in the east and sometimes cheaper, than it is to buy one in Saskatchewan. The producer, by co-operative effort, must make it as easy for the merchant in our cities to buy his potatoes in Saskatchewan as he can now in times of scarcity buy them elsewhere."

Otherwise the Saskatchewan city market may not be supplied with home-grown tubers."

"Unless we can co-operate, to secure our local markets, there would seem to be little use at present of attempting to get outside ones. It seems apparent that only by co-operation in shipping and marketing will this condition be corrected."

Co-operating For Saskatchewan. "Co-operation" might well be the motto of Saskatchewan. The same splendid spirit which was displayed in the rural districts, the towns and the cities, is strongly in evidence in the present campaign for the sale of Saskatchewan Farm Loan Debentures.

The Grain Growers' Association, the Saskatchewan Municipal Association, the Saskatchewan Retail Merchants' Association, are all actively supporting the movement to secure from the cities of Saskatchewan the funds to finance the development of Saskatchewan's latest farm wealth.

Wireless Doctoring While the steamship St. Paul, which arrived at Southampton, was in mid-Atlantic she received a wireless appeal for medical aid from the tramp steamer Schronoo. A member of the crew of the tramp was seriously ill. Dr. Stump, of the St. Paul, obtained a description of the symptoms of the man's ailment by wireless while the vessels were fifty miles apart. He diagnosed the case as appendicitis. "They treated the man by wireless instruction for four days, when it was reported he was on the way to recovery."

In the early Greek plays, only two characters appeared on the stage at one time.

LETTER FROM MRS. WAKELIN

Tells Remarkable Story of Sickness and Recovery.

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered greatly from weakness, seemed to be tired all the time and had no ambition to do anything or go any place. My nerves were in bad shape, I could not sleep at night, and then there came a breakdown. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and several of my friends advised me to use it, and it surely put new life into me. Now I am quite able to do all my own work, and I would strongly advise every suffering woman to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial."

Mrs. CHARLES WAKELIN, 272 Christie St., Toronto, Ont.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for longer money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for more than forty years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

Handling Soil

Depth of Furrow Should be Changed Each Year.

It has been abundantly proved that it is not good to plough a field the same depth from year to year. By ploughing shallow one year and to a uniform depth, the soil cannot become mixed well and a hard bed is formed at the bottom of the furrow, which neither air, water, nor the roots of plants will penetrate readily. A little subsoil turned to the surface occasionally allows the elements to act upon it freely, thus liberating food as it mixes with the surface soil and vegetable matter. In this way more valuable plant food and greater depth of soil is furnished the plants which grow upon it.

For deep, rich soil, deep ploughing, say from six to nine inches is best in the fall of the year. The depth should be increased by one-half inch each succeeding year until the required depth is reached. Then return to the normal by gradually diminishing the depth from year to year. Light working soils, those running into sandy loam and sand, it is safer to plough shallow. For this, clay soils, and equally light subsoil, plough from five to seven inches; for small grains it is perhaps better than very deep ploughing, because it does not turn the compact clay to the surface and it loosens the soil to a good depth. Of course, where root crops are intended to be raised, it is profitable to occasionally subsoil and plow deeper.

Some farmers practice ploughing a little deeper each year for several years in succession, and then for one season plow at about half the depth of the deepest in a series of years.

Beetles Which Eat Lead. A sensation was caused some time ago by the discovery of a beetle that likes eating lead. Considerable damage was being done to some lead-covered cables, and it was found that the damage was caused by a beetle which bored into the lead casing. Specimens of the beetle had been found in lead-foil packets of tea, and naturalists have concluded that the insects were coming from India and China.

Beetles Which Eat Lead. A sensation was caused some time ago by the discovery of a beetle that likes eating lead. Considerable damage was being done to some lead-covered cables, and it was found that the damage was caused by a beetle which bored into the lead casing. Specimens of the beetle had been found in lead-foil packets of tea, and naturalists have concluded that the insects were coming from India and China.

Too Much Appetite

may be as dangerous as too little.

When the skin is sallow or yellow, the eyes dull, the head aches or sleep broken and unrefreshing, the back aches, or there is a pain under the right shoulder blade, it is an indication that the body is being poisoned by poorly digested and imperfectly eliminated food waste. It is a wise thing to take

Beecham's Pills

to relieve these symptoms by helping to remove the cause.

Prohibition Sweeps Province

The citizens of Alberta made known once again their determination to have a "dry" province, on Monday last, and by an overwhelming majority put a stop to the inter-provincial traffic in liquor. While the vote was not as large as we had hoped for, it was large enough to give a fair expression of the feelings of the province at large. Had more interest been taken and a larger turn-out to the polls, the "dry" vote
would have been exceedingly large.
From reports from such centres as Calgary, Edmonton, Medicine Hat,
and the foreign and mining settlements, the "wets" turned out almost to a man, and it is fair to say that almost the total "wet" vote was polled.

In the Lacombe district, there is certainly no doubt as to the prohibition sentiment. In the town the vote was five to one for "dry", while the country districts were much stronger, as the following list will show. Lincoln poll has the honor of being the only "wet"
poll in the constituency.

bertha, Saskatchewan Manitoba, and Nova Scotia, which voted out the traffic on Monday. Clause 1 makes it unlawful to send, take, or import into any of these provinces intoxicating liquor.
Clause 2 prohibits the manufacture of intoxicating liquor. In the province, Clause 3 prohibits railways and other companies from carrying liquor. Clause 4 provides a penalty for the first offence of a fine not less than $200 or more than $1000. For a second or subsequent offence there can be no fine, but a jail sentence of from six to twelve months.
And that's that. Poor Bootleggers!

To Clean Up The Towns

The Provincial Police of the Province
have been instructed to get busy
and clean-up the towns of the province, so far as liquor is concerned. They have started in the south country and there is weeping and wailing among the boot-leggers of that part of the province. Lacombe is fortunate in the matter of boot-leggers, apparently very few favoring us with their business; but it might be just as well for a few parties to keep their eyes open.

Alexander Chapter Order of the Eastern Star

The annual visit of the Worthy
Grand Matron of Alberta, Mrs. Mc-Clellan, of Lethbridge, at the Massachusetts Hall, Friday evening proved a memorable event to the many members who were present. Members and friends sat down to a sumptuous invitation at seven o'clock, after which all that were eligible retired to the Chapter Room, where the work of the several degrees were exemplified. The officers of the Chapter were highly complimented on the excellence of their work. Mrs. McClellan, predicting a bright future for this order in Lacombe,
A pleasant feature of the evening was a presentation made Mrs. Mc-Clellan of a gold mounted fountain pen on behalf of the Chapter by Mrs. Shearer, the recipient graciously acknowledging the gift in a manner that brought loud applause from all present.

Mrs. R. L. Tracy officiated at the banquet and great credit is due to all who worked untiringly to make this event
a success such as it turned out to be.

GUARD AGAINST CHILLS

Simple Precaution Against Dangers
of Cold and Damp.

Cultivate the habit of taking a cup of hot Oxo—a cube to a cup—before going out in the cold or damp. Such weather is a tax upon the system, and the strengthening and warming powers of the concentrated beef-goodness fortify you against the evils consequent upon exposure.

If the uses of Oxo are new to you, try a tin of four cubes. Oxo greatly improves gravies, stews, or soups, and is a delightful, sustaining and appetizing beverage. It is excellent for children.
Regular users of Oxo prefer the larger tins of 10 and 50 cubes,
using them in many different ways
in place of meat.

Local News Notes

We have heard quite a few quote the Calgary Eye-Opener as an authority on the liquor prohibition question. There is not, in all Canada, a newspaper that carries less weight than the Eye-Opener among intelligent readers. It influences only people who are susceptible to hot air dispensed in slangy terms and without regard to reason, and do not think. As to having weight in Alberta public matters, it is in the same class as the Chinese Herald, published in San Francisco.

STOPPED HER HEADACHES

Years Of Suffering Ended By "Fruit-a-lives"

112 ILIAC St., St. John, N. B.
"Is it with pleasure that I write to tell you of the great benefit I received from the use of your medicine 'Fruit-a-lives', made from fruit juice. I was a great sufferer for many years from Nervous Headaches and Constipation. I tried everything, consulted doctors, but nothing seemed to help me until I tried 'Fruit-a-lives'. After taking several boxes, I was completely relieved of these troubles and have been unusually well ever since." Miss ANNIE WARD.

KEEN'S OXFORD BLUE

THE woman who wants WHITE clothes uses Keen's Oxford Blue, just as her mother and grandmother and great grandmother did before her.

Times have changed and methods too. Rain water and mangles are forgotten. All kinds of patented devices and labor saving soaps have come. But wherever clothes are washed today, Keen's Oxford Blue is still the standard of excellence.

Governments and Commissions

Canada has become a land of Commissions. There is the Railway Commission, the Civil Service Commission, the Deep Waterways Commission, Harbor Commissions, the Soldier Settlement Board, the Pensions Board, while Commissions almost without number have been appointed in recent years to inquire into this, that and the other question. In addition to the many Commissions appointed by the Dominion authorities, every Province has a number of these bodies created under Provincial statutes.

Other Commissions and Boards have been created to discharge administrative functions, oft-times of a semi-judicial character, when Governments have been faced with problems where, for political reasons, they did not care to assume direct responsibility in administration because of the pressure they knew would be applied to prevent a strict enforcement of the law, or because of the unpopularity which must inevitably ensue from a proper adherence to the regulations laid down and through the application of strict business principles.

While not condemning Commissions as an institution in government, it is open to question whether all Governments in Canada, both Federal and Provincial, have not made mistakes in a too frequent resort to them and thereby created a feeling of want of confidence among the masses of the people.

Be that as it may, be one thing is at least clear. If a Government transfers to a Commission important administrative duties and responsibilities which ordinarily belong to Government itself, then it is the bounden duty of that Government to support and uphold the actions of such Commission, except where it is shown that the Commission has been derelict in its duty, has exceeded its powers, or has shown marked partiality in administration.

Last summer, one by one the members of the Board of Commerce resigned from office because of disagreement with members of the Dominion cabinet, until, at last, there was no Board left in existence. Readers will recall the sensation caused by the resignation of Mr. Murdoch and the charges of interference with the Board which he made publicly in the press. The Government thereupon appointed new members to the Board. These men recently issued a most outrageous order prohibiting the importation of sugar into Canada, ordering that all Canadian purchases of sugar must be made from Canadian refineries, and fixing the retail price of sugar at 21 cents a pound, plus freight, although there were large stocks in the country and sugar was retailing as low as 10, 11 and 12 cents a pound in the United States. An outraged public forced the suspension of this order by the Government pending an investigation, but it was so palpably framed in the interests of the refiners solely and against all other classes of industry using sugar and the people of Canada generally, that it should be absolutely cancelled.

The fact that in the creation of these Commissions, Governments always reserve to themselves the right of over-riding the acts and decisions of the Commissions—undoubtedly, a necessary precaution under democratic institutions—only goes to show that in the final analysis Governments are responsible for the acts of such Commissions.

The sooner Canada gets back to the straightforward plan of clearly defined Government responsibility in all acts of public administration, with Parliament as a free and untrammelled forum for the discussion of all public questions and grievances, and the final arbiter in all matters, the better for the Dominion.

Teaching Birds Music

Famous Scientist Says They Can Sing Our Songs.

That birds can sing not only their own songs but ours also, has been revealed in an astonishing story told by Henschen, the famous scientist. A bird fancier with infinite patience succeeded in teaching a bullfinch to pipe "God Save the King." Moreover, a young canary learned the tune from the bullfinch. The canary became so expert that whenever the bullfinch faltered, his little pupil unfailingly took up the refrain, though kept in another room. If the hobby of teaching birds our favorite airs were to become popular, and these trained singers were afterwards set free in their native woods we should be able to take sylvan strolls with the pleasant prospect of hearing the vesper sparrow warble "Annie Laurie," and the robin sing, "Down On the Farm."

No Door Keys in Russia

Under Bolshevik Rule No Door Can Be Locked.

Door keys are considered unnecessary in the Bolshevik scheme of life in Russia. Only privileged persons are supposed to possess them. When the Associated Press correspondent, who recently crossed Russia, asked for a door key in one of the nationalized hotels at Omsk, he was informed by the hotel "commissar," formerly the owner, that under the red regime doors are not supposed to be locked.

An appeal to the Omsk Bolshevik commandant resulted in the American correspondent obtaining an official document granting him a key and the privilege of locking the door of his room.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 24
NEW DOWN THE CORRUPT TREE—WORD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY.

The king having completed the enunciation of the laws of the kingdom, makes application as follows:
I. Entrance Into the Kingdom Urged. (vv. 13, 14).

There are two ways only before each one—life and death, heaven and hell. The grand incentive held out is that it is the way to life. He just as plainly declares that the gate affording an entrance is straight and the way narrow. But while it is straight, and it is an open gate, and all are invited to enter. Though the gate that leads to eternal life be straight and the way narrow in the beginning, it broadens out in every respect until the fullness of life is realized. On the other hand, the way which at first seems broad and pleasant becomes the way of the most abject slavery and limitation.

II. Warnings Against False Teachers (vv. 15-20).

1. Their real existence (v. 15). Ever since God has had a people, false prophets and teachers have appeared among them. That they appear everywhere need not at all surprise us, for Christ foretold that such should be the case (Matt. 24:11).

2. Their nature (v. 15). (1) They are hypocritical. The Devil does his most successful work by assuming an angel of light (II. Cor. 11:14, 15). His ministers appear in this way and turn people from the narrow to the broad way. If the evil one would appear as he really is, his success would not be great. From the day when he appeared to Eve in the garden until this present time, his success has been due to his ability to deceive. (2) They are destructive. This is suggested by their being likened to wolves. It is when the wolf is in sheep's clothing that he does his most destructive work. It is so today. False teachers are doing their most deadly work while pretending to be loyal to the Bible and to Jesus Christ.

3. The unfailing test (vv. 16-18). By their fruits ye shall know them. Every tree bears its own kind of fruit. Nature is inexorable in her laws as to this. One may search the universe in vain for an exception to this law. It is equally true in the spiritual world. There is a vital connection between the faith of the heart and the fruit of the life. That which comes out in the conduct was first in the heart. A right heart is essential to right conduct.

4. Their ultimate end (v. 19). All false teachers shall be finally punished by being cast into the fire. Although God has infinite patience and mercies toward men, he will see to it that this work does not go on forever.

III. The Dangers of Empty Profession (vv. 21-23).

1. Merely calling Christ, "Lord," will not answer for doing his will.

2. One may even do supernatural works and not be saved (vv. 22, 23). Not all supernatural works are divine. There is a supernatural world of evil. It is the business of every believer to test the spirits (I. John 4:1, 2).

3. Separation from God (v. 23). You may be a Sunday school teacher or preacher, and even perform many mighty works, as casting out devils, healing the sick, and yet hear from Jesus Christ, the King, the awful declaration "I never knew you, depart from me."

4. One and Only Safe Way (v. 24-29).

1. Hearing the sayings of Christ (v. 24). To do this you must give attention to reading the word of God. Avail yourself of every means at your command to become acquainted with God.

2. Do what Christ commands (vv. 24-29). One must put to practice Christ's teachings. Hearing and doing the teachings of Christ is building upon the solid rock. Christ Jesus, the Rock of Ages, is the only right foundation upon which to build. Such a building can never be destroyed by flood and storm. Hearing and not doing Christ's sayings is building upon the sand, which in the time of the storm of God's wrath and judgment will be utterly destroyed. Obedience must follow hearing Christ.

Dress Shabbily
Lord Salisbury and Duke of Norfolk
Rivals as Worst Dressed

A French newspaper correspondent who was received by Mr. Lloyd George during his stay in Lucerne, was surprised to see the British premier in a worn-out, rumpled blue suit of bad fit. But Lloyd George, in this respect, is no more than his countrymen, in his penetrating a great English tradition.

It has always been the pride of English statesmen to look shabby. Lord Salisbury and the Duke of Norfolk were rivals for the glory of being the worst-dressed member of the house of lords, and Mr. Arthur J. Balfour's recent appearance in the house of commons in a shop-walker's coat, flannel trousers, flannel shirt and brown tennis shoes, created quite a stir.

When a certain English statesman was walking with a friend in the Bavarian health resort, Kissingen, a smartly dressed gentleman bowed to him deferentially. "Who is that?" asked the friend. "He looks like a Russian prince," "Dear me, no," replied the Englishman, "that is my valet."

Nothing Can Touch Catarrh-ozone In Curing Quickly.

You may dislike taking medicine—but coughs are best cured without medicine. The modern treatment is "Catarrh-ozone"—it isn't a drug—it's a healing vapor full of pine essence and healing balsams. It spreads over the surfaces that are weak and sore from coughing. Every spot that is congested is healed—irritation is soothed away, phlegm and secretions are cleared out, and all symptoms of cold and catarrh are cured. Nothing so quick, nothing so sure, so pleasant as Catarrh-ozone. Beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Catarrh-ozone. About four years ago I was taken terribly bad with my heart, nerves and fainting spells, and was down in bed for about six months. I doctored with two different doctors and seemed to get better, although the fainting spells would not leave me. I would take such terrible falls, whenever I was that I was not safe to leave me alone at any time. At last I decided to resort to proprietary medicines and took several different kinds, but seemed to receive but little benefit from them. One day noticing the advertisement of M.M. Balfour's Heart and Nerve Pills I decided to try them, and before I had taken more than two boxes I could see they were helping me. Arrange to Test Alberta Coal in Winnipeg Furnaces.

The Alberta mines branch has arranged to open a demonstration plant in Winnipeg for the purpose of trying out different grades of Alberta coal and showing the Manitobans how to use them. For the next four months experimental fires will be kept going in a number of different types of furnaces besides cook stoves and heaters.

Marcus C. Syme, resident combustion engineer, will be in charge.

The coal will be secured from the regular stocks of the Winnipeg dealers, and no attempt will be made to pick samples. As a result of recent tests in one of the government boilers in Winnipeg an order has been given for 2,500 tons of Alberta coal.

No Bars and No Saloons For B.C.

Vancouver, Oct. 22.—In a statement issued yesterday, Premier Oliver said:

"I am very much surprised at the result of the vote yesterday. I had anticipated a majority for prohibition.

The government will be prepared for the consideration of the legislature of a bill to give effect to the will of the people, as expressed at the polls. Had the government not been prepared to accept the decision of the electors, they would not have submitted the question.

The sweeping majority in favor of government control is ample justification of the government's conduct, both as to the form of the question and of the expense of submitting it, apart from any other question. I cannot interpret the verdict as either a demand for an authorization of a return to the bar or the saloon, but rather as an instruction to the government, to make available for use liquor in reasonable quantities and at a reasonable price, subject to restrictions which will prevent abuse.

"As the sentiment of the majority of the electors is not in support of the present act, it will be the duty of the government to prepare and submit substitutional legislation at the earliest date practicable."

Premier Oliver and Attorney-General Harris are in the city and are discussing the result of the referendum

the full official figures of which probably will not be known for 48 hours.

Although the government sale of liquor has carried, it is stated, the present prohibition act must remain the law until the legislature meets and enacts a new law, and this may be several months.

There seems to be general agreement among the members of the government that at present there must be no private sale of any kind. This implies that there will be no table

one part of Alberst tharwin another,

and the department is justified in seeing to it that the law is observed

everywhere the same.

It is possible that developments in the Pass will bring sensations. This was to have been expected in a district

where license was evidently construed to mean liberty. But no matter what the sensations may be, it will be better for the Pass and better for the whole province to have the situation

cleared up now.

Fairley, P. O. Box 209, Calgary. You

No Favors Asked U. S. By Canada

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Intimations

that Canada is anxious to have the United States bear a large share of the expense of constructing the proposed St. Lawrence Waterway, is resented by the people of the Dominion, today declared Charles M. Magrath, chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Waterways

commission investigating the project.

Mr. Magrath made this statement

at a hearing before the commission

here when Emil P. Albrecht, president of the Philadelphia Bourse, speaking in opposition to the plan, declared that

"If Canada wants this canal let her

pay for it."

Mr. Albrecht's warning of peril to

United States investment in the offer-

prise in case of war with Great Britain had added that "instead of having a new Mediterranean Great Lakes

would be another Black Sea with a Dardanelles.

Mr. Magrath stopped the speaker

and with vigor said:

"The Canadian people never asked anyone to build anything for them. It is quite disagreeable to have suggestions made intimating otherwise. Canada has taken her place as a citizen
